

Appeal For Review Of Assessments Policy

Students may seek a review if:

- a) The final result differs significantly from what they expect as a result of information given to them, or
- b) If the procedures outlined by the school do not appear to have been followed.

Teachers' judgments as to the worth of individual assessment tasks will not be subject to review. In the event of cheating, an assessment mark of zero (0) must be awarded. High School Cluster will determine whether cheating has occurred. High School Cluster will determine outcomes of appeals. High School Cluster will determine procedures to be implemented if tasks produce invalid or unreliable results. In exceptional circumstances the High School Cluster has the authority to change the policy at its discretion.
